PROSPECTS

In view of the trade war between China and the United States and the turndown of the market situation, it is expected that the global economy for the second half of 2019 will be slowed down. The Group has built a solid ground in the domestic market and believes that its sales performance will not be adversely affected by the event; however, it will be inevitably that the overseas market will face a tough time. As the domestic market of IC industry is suffering from keen market competition and price cut within the industry to gain market share, the selling price of the Group's products are under high pressure and affected by price reduction. The directors expect that the overall sales for the second half of 2019 will be stable, however, the product profit margin will be further dropped and the annual results can only be improved upon the turnabout of the market situation. The Group will strive to continue its resources application in R&D and with a hope that its results can be improved following launch of new products with market expansion.
